

150 Stories for 150 Years

Soccer Alum Remembers WC Fútbol with Coach Jerry Fisch

Submitted By: Carl Theirmann '77
Berkeley, CA

Prior to Bud Lewis' long and successful tenure (1975–2017) as men's varsity soccer coach at WC, history professor Jerry Fisch had a great tenure as both coach and super team promoter. We loved his promotional brochure – Soccer at Wilmington College – emphasizing European strategies and our team's charisma – and, of course, him!

(RIGHT) Fisch adorned with his signature Stalin-esque mustache, the promo piece mentioned the "native Detroitier has soccer in his blood, as both his father and grandfather played in their native Hungary." A member of the College faculty, "Fisch teaches European intellectual history to American students much as he teaches European soccer to his American players."

It was a bit chaotic in those days but amazing fun!

RETURN TO SITE